Time tracking data can be exported and seamlessly transferred to downstream systems. Moreover, Staff Times is continuously evolving to enhance interfaces in response to customer feedback and demands.

Security
Thanks to a secure cloud connection, employee data is only transferred directly between your devices and the Staff Times Server in Switzerland, complying with GDPR and ensuring maximum security. Additionally, employee data can be restored on other devices without any loss of data.
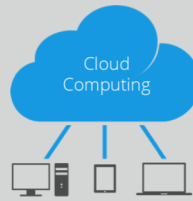

The law requires timekeeping
According to labor law, an employer is obliged to provide information at any time regarding the duration, start, and end of daily and weekly working hours, including overtime. With Staff Times, you're on the right side of the law!
